

One-on-One Presentation Coaching

Avish will work with you one-on-one via Skype to help you be a funnier, more engaging, more effective speaker!

Do you want some help taking your presentation to the next level? Do you need assistance identifying and developing your humor strengths? Are you looking for someone to help you craft your content, stories, and presentation so you get maximum results? Then this coaching program may be just the thing for you!

This “virtual” coaching program begins with a review of your current speaking business and your presentation-skills goals. Avish will also review a short presentation (pre-recorded or one you deliver live on the call).

The main program consists of four Skype coaching calls with Avish. The calls will feature instruction, information, and live coaching to help you improve your content, structure, and delivery. In between calls you will be given “homework” assignments to work on to prepare for the next call (For a list of ways you can benefit from the coaching, check out the other side of this sheet!).

The Program Includes:

- One pre-call to go over goals and objectives and to give Avish a sense of your speaking skills and style
- Four coaching calls of up to 60 minutes each (1-2 weeks apart)
- “Homework” between calls for you to work on your material and delivery
- Unlimited email support over the course of the program

Plus Super-Cool Bonuses!

- The Complete Speaking Expert Audio Series (downloadable MP3s)
- The “Unleashing Your Inner Comedian” audio program (downloadable MP3s)
- Recordings of Avish’s 5 Part “Be Funny as a Speaker” Webinar (streaming or downloadable video)

Some Of The Ways You MIGHT Use The Coaching Program:

Your particular program will be customized to your specific needs. However, here is a list of ways you could potentially take advantage of one-on-one coaching with Avish. He can help you:

- Identify your “humor strengths.”
- Punch up humor throughout your presentation.
- Increase the engagement level of your stories and content.
- Improve your storytelling skills and ability.
- Brainstorm material and humor for you program – you can “rent Avish’s brain” and have him help you come up with ideas that work for you.
- Define your message to give your overall presentation greater clarity.
- Tighten up and strengthen your existing stories.
- Extract stories from your life that you can use to engage audiences and convey your points.
- And more!

“The audience actually laughed where I was hoping they would! I took your advice about slowing down with the “going to the movies” bit and they laughed hysterically! I felt so good that I started ad-libbing with some “acting out” stuff and I killed!”

- Jim S., “Be Funny as a Speaker” Coaching Client
