Dear Avish:

Thank you for your entertaining, engaging, and substantive keynote presentation for the 2016 Indiana State SHRM Conference. I have heard only positive things from attendees. One colleague told me that it was her favorite session of the conference!

Some of our board and committee members were a little unsure in advance about how improv comedy could relate to professionals and the "real world," but after your keynote, everybody was incredibly enthusiastic about it. It was hilarious and energetic, but it wasn't just entertaining; you shared some real substantive ideas that our attendees could use right away to be more effective in their work. The way you engaged and involved the audience made your program captivating and different from what our attendees are used to – in a great way!

I also appreciated how easy you were to work with. You were easy to contact, you returned calls and emails, and you provided all the information we needed in a timely manner. You are definitely one of the easiest speakers with whom I have ever worked!

Any SHRM State Conference (or, frankly, any professional conference) would benefit from having you as a keynote speaker. Your program would make for a terrific opening, as it was upbeat and set a great tone for everything that followed. Thank you again for providing our conference such a unique, refreshing, and amazing presentation!

All the Best,

Pam Goedde
